NEW RESTAURANT TO OPEN AT GLENDALE AIRPORT Visit New Café for Soaring Culinary Delights

GLENDALE, Ariz. – The Glendale Municipal Airport will soon be home to a new restaurant proprietor, Something Special Aviation (SSA) Café, for pilots, staff and visitors to enjoy while at the facility.

The new restaurant will open on Nov. 3, with daily hours from 6:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The menu for breakfast and lunch will feature waffles, eggs, breakfast burritos, coffees and lattes, pastries, sandwiches, salads, burgers and more.

SSA Café is an extension of Something Special Catering & Events, a company with more than 20 years of culinary service experience in San Jose, CA and Scottsdale. “Our catering company has been working out of a full-service catering kitchen in Scottsdale alongside our parent company In Flight Services,” said General Manager Michelle Robinson. “With the influx of business Super Bowl will bring this February we knew we wanted to expand, and the Glendale Airport seemed like a perfect fit.”

The Café will hold a Fall Festival and Open House event on Sunday, Nov. 2, 2-6 p.m., with complimentary food, live music and raffle giveaways. Raffle prize proceeds and donations will benefit Arizona Friends of Foster Children Foundation.

The restaurant is located in the Glendale Municipal Airport Terminal, at 6801 N. Glen Harbor Blvd., suite 104. Here is more information on SSA Café.

Located just five miles west of downtown Glendale, five miles east of Luke Air Force Base, and 30 minutes northwest of downtown Phoenix, Glendale’s 477-acre modern airport features a beautifully designed two-story, 18,000 square-foot terminal, a Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) Contract control tower, and complete airport services for general aviation and corporate jet traffic.
