Yucca District - where Glendale's past, present and future meet.

July 17, 2009

Making Cents – Shop Glendale is back! Hot times call for hot deals! Get great discounts, while giving back to the community with Shop Glendale.

The important tax dollars generated by making a purchase can help fill library shelves with new books, replace the playground equipment at your local park or ensure your streetlights are always on.

The Glendale Office of Tourism is pleased to launch Shop Glendale 2009-2010! This program encourages residents and visitors to take advantage of daily discounts or deals at any participating Glendale business. The program also promotes spending in Glendale so that tax dollars used to support city services continue to grow. Glendale's police, fire, emergency medical services, streets, parks, libraries and much more are all funded through local sales generated by shoppers.

Shop Glendale is an annual program that invites Glendale residents and visitors to take advantage of one-of-a-kind promotions and special offers available throughout the year. Shoppers can begin by stopping in at the Glendale Visitor Center to pick up a free Shop Glendale Discount Card and get a chance to win great prizes. The center is also sponsoring a back-to-school supply drive to support local Glendale schools.

The Glendale Visitor Center is located in Historic Downtown Glendale at 5800 W. Glenn Drive, Suite 140. To find a list of participating businesses click here. For more information, call (623) 930-4500.

Be Glendale Monsoon Ready. When the storm hits, it's best to keep your family safe at home. But, there are still dangers to be on the lookout for. Read the following tips to make sure your family and home are as safe as possible before the rain and wind begins.

- When a storm is coming, turn off all unnecessary power equipment to reduce the draw on power companies. Storms are prime times for power outages, and conserving energy will help everyone in the event of emergencies.
- Have extra light and power handy. Keep batteries, flashlights and a battery-operated radio or TV on hand to keep you informed during severe weather.
- Do not burn candles for light. Use flashlights for emergencies as a candle can easily be bumped, which can lead to a fire.
- Stay off the phone. Even cordless phones can cause a shock when lightning strikes nearby. Use cell phones only if necessary.
- Avoid plumbing fixtures. Do not bathe or swim during a lightning storm because lightning can travel along metal pipes.
- Keep away from windows. High winds can blow heavy debris and shatter a window.
- Protect your pets. Don't forget to gather up the family pets before the storm hits.

Lost your power? Follow these tips on what to do when the lights go out.

- Turn the big items off first. Switching off high-usage items like computers and televisions will help prevent overloading the system. It will also protect your electronics from voltage fluctuations when power returns.
- Use surge protectors. These simple and affordable devices can provide extra protection to expensive electronics.
- Tune in for information. Turn on your battery-powered radio or TV for updates on the power situation.
- Keep the cool air inside. Limit how often you open doors.
- Keep your freezer and refrigerator door closed. This will maintain the cold air already built up inside and help protect your food.
- Know your neighbors. It's always good to get a helping hand and offer one when it's needed.
- Report outages and concerns. Click here for contact information.
